

School benefits of Awareity's TIPS School Climate Survey

- Shows your students and school community your school cares and is taking proactive measures to address concerns
- Gathers valuable data for each specific school that school officials can use as a benchmark for growth and improvement, in the areas most needed, which may include:
 - how students feel about school safety and school climate (especially bullying) and how they perceive situations at school
 - what disconnects students may perceive between what they observe and what administrators/faculty/staff may observe
 - how students perceive the outcomes of situations at school
 - what topics students are aware of that may interfere with their learning and can be addressed through proper awareness and understanding
 - what actions are currently being taken, and what is or is not working
 - what students see as risks or threats to themselves and others
- Allows school to identify key areas/topics of concern that need the most attention and assist them in strategizing and setting goals for improvement, where needed
- Provides insight for reducing liabilities, costs, parent frustrations, and negative headlines
- Students are able to share thoughts and concerns anonymously without fear of retaliation
- If a student does provide personal contact information, this information is not recorded in the results report and is not provided to anyone at any time, unless the school requests such information be shared
- Survey results for each school are kept confidential. Results are returned to the appropriate personnel that have been designated by each school. Results are never shared with outside media or other third parties
- Receive a complimentary and confidential conference call with our School Prevention Specialist and your designated school personnel to review your survey's results, discuss options for addressing points of concern and share strategies from leading school districts for improving your school's efforts
- Assures students and school community that their voice is being heard – your school is truly listening to their feedback and concerns
